Session details

Ofsted Updates - Bradley Simmons, Regional Director South West

Ofsted will join to give an update on the latest news and views from Ofsted. The full brief for this talk will be agreed in the Autumn term based on key priorities at that time.

Capacity building in Schools utilising the AET (Autism Education Trust) framework - Paul Lamanna, Professional Lead for Communication and Interaction, Babcock International Group

The workshop will offer delegates:

- An overview of the AET (Autism Education Trust), the National Autism standards and Competency framework
- An overview of available training programmes
- A taster session of the 'Raising Awareness' training module content
- Links to additional resources

www.babcockldp.co.uk/

Boosting attainment through spoken language – Rose Brook, Babcock International Group

Practical Music workshop for primary schools - Composition into Notation

Cornwall Music Education Hub

This workshop will provide you with some starting points for composing with primary age children and will demonstrate how you can use composition as a support for teaching notation skills.

www.cornwallmusiceducationhub.org

Media in the classroom – Pirate FM Education & Training Thursday session fully booked.

This will be a practical workshop showing how media can be used in the classroom to support learning.

www.piratefm.co.uk/about/education-training/

Giants Tales' and Pesky Boggarts – outdoor learning with the Eden Project Both sessions fully booked

We will explore the power of 'spinning a yarn' to create meaningful (and purposeful) learning adventures outside. A Tall Tale can hook your children in, list the tasks, set the learning objectives, offer a chance to apply learning to the 'real' world and set the scene for a celebration. It's 'learning by stealth' at its best.

You will leave the session with pockets full of creative ideas for taking the core primary curriculum outside; probably also some bits of stick, a few shells, some blingy bits and grubby fingernails. .

Brave, Bold and Authentic Leadership – Alex Bell

Described as a 'daydreamer' by his teachers at Tywardreath school in the 70s, just a few miles away from Eden, Alex Bell has made daydreaming the hallmark of his work in education ever since.

Leader of two outstanding schools and now leadership coach and creator of what Sir Tim Smit described as 'exciting, inspirational' learning events globally through Portland Education, Alex leads a session on why, right now, the world needs its educators to be as bold, brave and authentic as they possibly can

This session will look at:

- Use of the outdoor learning environment to promote and support mental health
- The benefits of animals in school, the risk versus the reward
- Engaging a community, developing strong relationships that have impact

- Quick wins for tomorrow
- The science supporting the actions we take

WOW! Club (Wild Over Writing) - Lil Dye; Synergic Learning, alongside West Cornwall Teaching School Fully booked

A writing project, aimed in the first instance at UKS2 boys West Cornwall Teaching School commissioned a research project to create a fun intervention programme for boys to help raise standards in Y6 boys writing. Using relevant research from Carol Dweck, John Hattie, Gary Wilson, Guy Claxton and Daniel Pink amongst others, a programme of activities was devised which matched the relevant Learning Objectives for the year. The project was implemented in 4 schools and all ran a successful programme which showed a significant improvement in results.

This workshop gives an interactive run down on activities, how to run the project with TA or teacher support, and will provide a link to the learning materials to run it in your school free of charge.

Searching for the forgotten child...an education of hope - Martin Illingworth and Mikey Markham, Independent Thinking

Children always act in their own self-interest; if that means not behaving in your lesson or falling silent, then you need to investigate why that might be. Martin and Mike offer two short films and discussion about including those children that need more from you than just your lesson.

The most distinctive feature of any good teacher is their ability to reflect on their practice. Martin and Mike vibrantly discuss and share their vast array of experience and ideas to provide you with strategies to evaluate your practice effectively. Developing an ability to carefully reflect can have a positive impact on not just your pupils' progress but also on your own professional learning.

Memorable, enjoyable and effective maths teaching - Ian Taylor, Independent Thinking

Ian Taylor has enjoyed a meteoric rise from his first teaching job in one of Middlesbrough's – ergo one of the UK's – toughest schools to leading a team of 22 maths departments across a cluster of challenging schools via AST status and a growing reputation nationally for helping all teachers be even better at what they do.

'Many young people find maths boring, irrelevant and hard,' he said. 'My lessons aren't like that. At all.'
